

GLAMOUR

46.5

Easy Ways to Turn Up Your Style

Look amazing every day & night till New Year's

Genius Gifts

Stop scrambling! 50 perfect picks here

Lupita!

"There's room in this world for beauty to be diverse"

Into him?
The NEW Relationship Talk You Need to Have

Women of the Year 2014

Strong. Smart. And changing YOUR world.

Two more Lupita covers this way →

December 2014

“I’M A FAN OF THE POWER CLASH”

Her job: Bettina Prentice, 34, is the founder of Prentice Art, a consulting firm with clients like the Brooklyn Museum.

Her outfit here: “When I worked at Sotheby’s after college, you could only wear black. So once I left, I was so excited to incorporate color and prints that I never stopped. Since I’m a redhead, I love jewel tones like this emerald green dress.”

Her big-day boost: “If I’m meeting with a museum director, I want to be taken seriously, so I may go with clothes that have structure. I’ll pick something with a strong shoulder if I need that extra confidence.”

Hergo-to: “I’m a big fan of the power clash. I will definitely do a floral top with an animal-print skirt. Our industry is all about expressing yourself, so I feel like I can get away with it.”

Her signature: “I have no less than four pairs of shoes under my desk at any given time—like an amazing pair of Fendi leopard round-toe pumps I’ll bring out if I really need to go gangbusters. And I have a pair of Pierre Cardin eye shoes (my nod to surrealism) that I am besotted with right now. I find myself smiling down at them during a meeting.”

Kate Spade
New York
dress ($698, katespade.com)

Sam Edelman shoes ($160, samedelman.com)

Emerald City

Prentice at an exhibit of paintings by Brian Calvin, whose art she collects, in the Anton Kern Gallery

Marni dress. Maiyet bracelet. Falke tights. Gianvito Rossi heels. See Glamour Shopper for more information.